

DO MORE WITH YOUR DOG – TRICK DOG TITLES

Compiled by Bea Page Thank you to this source: <https://domorewithyourdog.com/DogTricks/>

From Kyra Sundance, CEO of DMWYD: “Teaching tricks establishes a pattern of learning, teaches skills and focus, is a positive method of training, and promotes a bond between canine and human. Dog trainers tend to train the hardest when working toward a goal— it keeps them motivated, and focused. The process of teaching dog tricks puts into play the foundational concepts and techniques of animal training: operant conditioning, marker training, consistency, timing, and motivation. In teaching tricks, we get to practice these techniques and immediately see the results. Each new trick presents a unique challenge that we can address with creativity and the insight of our previous experience. A Trick Dog title gives trainers this goal, while allowing them to earn their title at their own pace.” Per the DMWYD website, the organization was founded in 2005, the first title was awarded to an Australian Shepherd in August of 2007, and the first title awarded to a Bulldog was in January of 2011.

TITLED DOGS

NOTE!!! Some dogs listed by their owners as Bulldogs for their DMWYD titles are not actually Bulldogs, but rather are obvious mixes or different bull-breeds altogether. This does not refer to dogs with PAL or ILP enrollment since those dogs actually look like Bulldogs! This refers to dogs whose available info, photos and/or videos undeniably establish that they are not Bulldogs. Not all the dogs listed can be tracked, but in keeping with the purpose of maintaining titles databases for Bulldogs, Bea has placed a strike-thru across those dogs listed as “Bulldogs” for DMWYD titles whose published info, photos and/or videos undisputedly confirm that they are not, and do not even look like, a Bulldog.

DMWYD Titling criteria – Regular program: There are 4 levels of tricks (Novice, Intermediate, Advanced & Expert) and 6 tiers of DMWYD Trick Dog titles (Novice, Intermediate, Advanced, Expert, Champion & Grand Champion). Dogs must perform a variety of tricks with increased challenges at each level. Tricks on the Nov & Int lists are each worth 1 point. Tricks on the Adv & Exp level lists are each worth 2 pts. Unlike AKC, in DMWYD, the same trick may be used more than once, so the same trick may be used for its own level title or a lower-level title. In other words: a specific trick from the Expert list may be used for the Expert title even though it is also used for an Adv, Int and/or Nov title; a specific trick from the Advanced list may be used for the Advanced title even though it is also used for an Int and/or Nov title; and a specific trick from the Intermediate list may be used for the Intermediate title even though it is also used for a Nov title. The Novice title requires 15 points from the Novice or higher trick lists. The Intermediate title requires 12 points from Intermediate or higher trick lists. The Advanced title requires 5 tricks from the Advanced and or Expert trick lists. The Expert title requires 5 tricks from the Expert list. So, the most efficient way to earn Novice thru Expert titles is for the dog to perform tricks that add up to 15 points using the minimum number required for each tier, e.g., a dog that performs 8 Expert tricks could get the Novice thru Expert titles with just those 8 tricks (at 2 pts each, the 16 points satisfy the points criterion for Novice (15 pts) and Intermediate (12 pts) as well as the level criteria for all four title tiers: Expert (5 Expert tricks), Advanced (5 Advanced or higher tricks), Intermediate (12 pts from Intermediate or higher tricks) and Novice (15 pts from Novice or higher tricks); or a dog that performs 5 Expert tricks plus 3 Advanced tricks could get the Novice thru Expert titles with just those 8 tricks, or a dog that performs 5 Expert tricks plus 10 Intermediate tricks could get the Novice thru Expert titles with just those 15 tricks, and so on with different combinations. To earn the Champion title, the dog must demonstrate skill in every foundational behavior category, including retrieving, targeting, distance work, etc. The Grand Champion title is awarded to dogs that have been trick trained to the highest level. The Champion and Grand champion titles are different than the lower tier titles in that they are judged as “work as a whole.”, and evaluated only by DMWYD staff by video submission. Masters titles are awarded at each level for performing a set number of tricks at that level: 30 for Novice, 20 for Intermediate, 10 for Advanced & Expert. A Master Champion title requires an additional 31 tricks from any level for a grand total of 101 tricks.

American Kennel Club title recognition:

Starting January 1, 2017, AKC gave title recognition to Trick Dog titles earned from DMWYD: Novice Trick Dog (NTD), Intermediate Trick Dog (ITD), and Advanced Trick Dog (ATD) titles could be added to AKC registered dogs as the corresponding suffix titles of TKN, TKI, and TKA. Expert Trick Dog (ETD) equated to TKP. As of 1/3/2022, AKC no longer gives recognition to Trick Dog titles earned from other organizations.

Dogs listed by owners as Bulldogs that have been identified as not actually being a Bulldog:

Kaia

Not a Bulldog - maybe an AB or Pit or some other bullbreed or mix.

Hadji

Owner, Holly Boyles, stated on FB that Hadji is 3/4 French, 1/4 English.
